It is said that Poe once called at this ho It is said that Poe once called at this house to see Mr. Allan, and that the latter refused to admit him, and this was probably the only time Poe was ever on the premises.

There are some old chizens, however, who think that Poe, coming tack to Richmond after a long absence and many dublous exploits, did for a considerable time live here.

The facts on this point would make a very readable chapter of local history.

ing his teeth, which are long and sound.

The facts concerning the shooting, as reported to the Governor, are that on the 16th of July, at Axton, Henry county, Lee and Gus Eanes got into a quarrel with Nat Turner. Twiggs Davis, a desperate character, was standing near by, and without any provocation whatever drew a pistol and shot down the two Eaneses, killing Gus instantly and mortally wounding Lee.

Davis made his escape. His brother, Wythe Davis, also a desperate fellow, left with him.

From time to time some very pretty and poetic things are written about the Allan house, at the southeast corner of Main and Fifth streets, as having been the tophood home of Edgar Allan Poe, &c., but it is hard to find the historical data to hear them out.

Arrangements for Building the Tramway from Near Marshall Street to the North End of Eighth.

Work on the Eighth-Street tunnel is progressing to the entire satisfaction of all parties interested and there is now no reason for doubting that Messrs, J. P. Carpenter & Co., the contractors, will complete the job day.

The undertaking is a mammoth one, but these gentlemen have set to work in dead carnest. They know exactly what they are doing, and it is safe to say, with no unforeseen delay, they will be able to accomplish their task within the time which they themselves slowed.

A member of the firm from New York arrived in the city Tuesday, and he and Mr. Carpenter have spent much of the time since figuring on estimates that have been received for furnishing the bricks, stane, time, coment, lumber, and other materials to be used in the construction of the tunuel. None of the contracts have as yet been awarded, but it is probable that all of them will be this week, except that for furnishing eight millions of bricks, which will not be given out before next Monday, and it is not yet certain that it will be then.

Mr. Lum, engineer of the road, yesterday morning staked off the site for the shaft which is to be sunk on the east side of Eighth street just north of the alley between Marshall and Broad streets. In order not t Marshall and Broad streets. In order not to trespass on either private or public property the company have purchased the lot at the southeast corner of Marshall and Eighth streets and running back to the alley. The shaft will be sunk on the extreme back part of this lot. It will be 122 feet deep and the opening will be 6x15 feet in the clear. There will be two elevators kept in operation, so that one may be at the top unloading while the other is down in the shaft being loaded.

This will not only greatly expedite operations, but will spare the residents of that section of the city the annoyance of boisterous boys driving mule-earts and the great disconfort of having Eighth street made a bank of dust. This action on the part of the railroad company will be thoroughly appreciated by the citizens resident on that thoroughfare.

The earth taken out at the shaft will be dumped over this struc-ture, and when this filling is finished the transway will be extended and the remainder of the excavated earth, including that taken out at and near the mouth of the tunnel, will be used in filling the road-bed near by. CONNECTING TRACK.

It is proposed to build a temporary track to connect with the Chesapeake and Ohlo road, so that all of the materials may be brought right up to where they are needed. Work on this will be commenced to-day.
